SOURCES, CITATIONS & SURROGATE SIGNER INSTRUCTIONS

SOURCES & CITATIONS

It is essential that all information in your marketing efforts, especially statements used to support facts are accurate. We will provide you with our sources when you receive creative to review, and we are always willing to provide more sources to make you comfortable about statements being made in the letters.

If you have statements you want included, we also ask that you provide us with the appropriate citations and sources for our records.

SURROGATE SIGNERS

Many of our clients have successfully utilized Sean Hannity, James Golden aka Bo Snerdley, Newt Gingrich, President Trump, members of the Trump Family, Jon Voight, members of the Duck Dynasty family, Ted Nugent and heads of faith-based ministries.

Surrogate signers will generally increase the response to our marketing messages.

We encourage you to use surrogate signers if you have access to individuals who can serve in this capacity, but please do not ask us to write letters on behalf of surrogates until you have properly coordinated with your surrogate.

Unless other arrangements are made, we do not get involved in requesting surrogate signers to participate in a volunteer or fee-based arrangement. Clients make the request to the surrogate signer directly, but if you desire, we can send the surrogate a copy of the letter once the request is made and facilitate edits as needed.

The final approval must always be provided in writing by our Client Liaison* via email or through our Review and Approve system. The client is always responsible for coordinating a final approval from the surrogate unless other arrangements have been made.

*The Client Liaison is the individual listed in the Agency Agreement as "Liaison".

HOUSE FILE MANAGEMENT

House file messaging is a productive and essential element for our digital marketing efforts and we will look for opportunities to help you maximize results from your house file.

If you have retained us to manage your house file from prior marketing efforts, (email lists, petitions, Facebook, etc), please upload the files in CSV or Excel format to the Online Portal we have shared with you. We will segregate those segments from the names we provide you through our marketing efforts.

House file letters will often be used to test messages before we send them to prospect lists to ensure best results and test the messaging.

When you upload your files, please label them and if practical, please include a word document that details the files and their origins.

For Best Practices, please include as many fields of information as possible, especially the date, time and IP address from where they opted-in or donated to you. If you can include the “first name” of the individual, it is helpful towards the marketing efforts.

There is no need to provide a list of “unsubscribes” and we will not use those files, however, we may be able to help you re-activate members who have stopped opening or engaging with your email letters.

DELIVERY REPORTS AND TEST EMAILS

In our performance-based program, we do not provide reporting on size of deployments, open rates, click through rates or other metrics. Generally, we evaluate performance on conversions and donations.

It is our standard practice to test marketing campaigns with smaller batches of emails and then evaluate our expansion for an individual marketing campaign to more emails, segments and additional lists.

Your Account Manager can gather these metrics for a review of the overall efforts, but we do not always receive these metrics from list owners and therefore it may be an incomplete summary.

You may even consider changing up the messages throughout the year or surrounding holidays and other milestones.

WARMING UP NEW DONORS

It is essential that you have a strategy for warming-up your relationship with your donors.

Make sure to communicate with them regularly and not solely focused on soliciting additional contributions.

It begins with a thank you note, and should continue regularly with updates on:

- Endorsements,
- Milestones reached,
- Surveying them on key issues,
- Great media stories about your activities, and
- Anything else that may demonstrate to a donor that you are making good use of their support.

Please consider adding pictures and videos to these communications. All of these efforts should lead to regular and larger donations from these donors.

If you would like assistance drafting these strategies and messages, please let us know and we can schedule an in-depth call to discuss them.

10DLC

The telecommunications industry and cell phone carriers are now requiring marketers like you to conform to a new 10DLC standard for sending peer-to-peer text messages like the ones we intend to distribute on your behalf.

A registration and vetting process must now occur to ensure messages are not blocked or filtered which we are happy to manage for you.

If you've already completed this process through another means, please make sure to organize the information so you can share it with our team.

Getting the 10DLC registration process completed will allow for us to scale services on your behalf and to increase the likeliness that the telecommunications industry will allow our intended recipients to receive your messages.

In short order, you will receive an email requesting additional information that will be required as part of the 10DLC registration process.

The registration process may take up to 2 weeks to complete so please help us expedite this process for your benefit.
